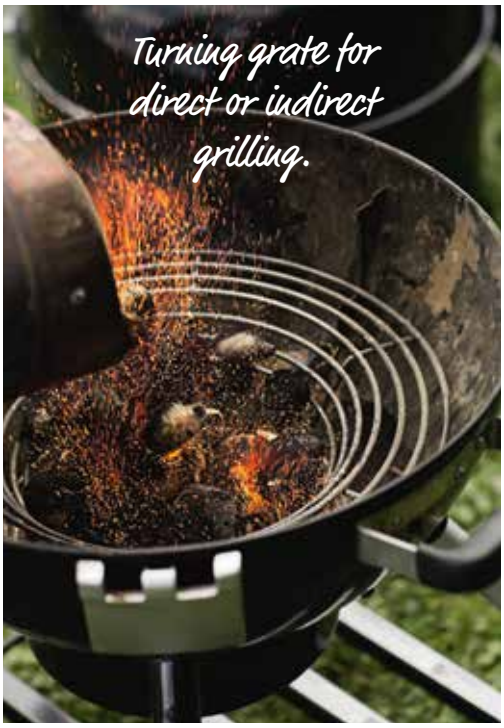
SMOKER NO.1 F50-S

TAKE A DETAILED LOOK AT OUR SMOKER



The Patient One:
Our Smoker

Finesse and patience are the key factors of the smoking process. And, of course, the right smoker to cook the food for hours at low temperatures in aromatic, smoky air. Low & Slow is the motto.

You do not need the huge “smoker locomotive” traditionally used in American BBQs to enjoy the unique flavour of smoked pulled pork, spare ribs, brisket, smoked fish, as well as cheese and vegetables. The space-saving and mobile RÖSLE Smoker will fit into any garden and is as good as the classic BBQ locomotive in every way.

The All-Rounder:
Our Wood Pellet Grills

Juicy, tender meat with fine smoke flavourings or food grilled directly over the flame, crispy roasts, breads and even pastries: The RÖSLE pellet grill units are BBQ smokers, high-temperature grills and convection ovens all in one.

They are also extremely precise: Equipped with an intelligent temperature controller (ITC), you can check, control and accurately maintain the desired temperature for hours.

Environmentally-friendly pellets are used as fuel in place of charcoal. These pellets are 100% hardwood obtained from apple, cherry, beech or hickory trees. Depending on the type selected, you are able to lend the wonderful wood fire flavour a mild fruity or intensive spicy touch.

Perfect flavour. That, and nothing less, is what gourmets and gastronomes expect from our high-quality, stainless steel pellet grills. Five all-rounders that enable grilling, smoking, roasting and baking at the highest level.

The functionality in detail

① Hardwood pellets are filled into the storage container, from where they are transported to the fire chamber by a screw conveyor.

② Air is sucked into the cooking chamber through powerful fans.

③ The compressed air is heated by a glow rod during start-up.

④ The wood pellets are lit by the heated air and heat the cooking chamber.
Hot air and smoke circulate evenly in the cooking chamber.
